

A year in the making;

What does the project look like?

The Consortium has moved on to the primary and secondary research that a topic such complex requires. This research aims to establish the current situation in all partner countries – what does green entrepreneurship look like, what are the existing good practices and what needs to be worked on. This step required the involvement of local stakeholders, representatives of NGOs, SMEs, young people interested in entrepreneurship, people from academia and researchers.

This research consists the basis for the creation of the training material, which will be on the following thematic fields:

- Introduction to Green Entrepreneurship
- Business skills for Green Entrepreneurship
- Digital skills for Green Entrepreneurship
- Marketing al Responsibility skills for Green Entrepreneurship
- Fundraising and Networking for green entrepreneurship
- Green Transition
- Business Skills in a Paperless Economy
